Duo to unveil bridal designs at showing

Roll Call: Joanne Boeckman

A mother and daughter have teamed up as designers of their own line of bridal, cocktail and evening gowns.

Faythe Dornink and daughter Sarah Dornink are launching their Dornink garments at a showing from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday at 504 E. Locust St. in the Hohberger Building – the former Woolworth's building – in the East Village. The event will include champagne to sip and locally made desserts and treats to munch. Music will be provided by DJ Tim Grimes.

Faythe Dornink has been in the custom-sewing business for 23 years, making mostly bridal wear and mother-of-the-bride garments. Her resume includes making a replica of the 1899 Hubbell wedding gown for the Terrace Hill Society.

Sarah Dornink is a graduate of the University of Iowa and the New York Fashion Institute of Technology. She lives in New York, where she designs and manages production of the Dornink line.

There is no charge for the showcase. For more information, see www.dornink.com.
